INTERNSHIP

Leopardruns Innovations & Technology

Sep 2023 - Dec 2023

Jr. Software Developer

Throughout my internship at LeopardRuns Innovations and Technology from September 2023 to December 2023, I acquired practical skills in Node.js, Express, and MongoDB. My main tasks involved creating APIs and developing the backend, collaborating with experienced developers to improve my abilities in constructing reliable systems and tackling real-world problems.

PROJECTS

Live Event Management Web App LINK

Created and protected RESTful APIs to manage user profile sign-up/sign-in and event data in a live event web app. Integrated JWT and OAuth 2.0 for secure access and third-party logins. Improved error management, worked with front-end developers on API integration, and supplied detailed documentation for user-friendly navigation.

IMDB Clone Website LINK

Created a replica of IMDB using React.js, which includes search capabilities for new movies, watchlist organization, and filtering by ratings. Incorporated the TMDb API to provide up-to-date movie information and implemented a responsive design for smooth navigation on various devices. Improved user interaction with a dynamic user interface and effective state control.
